

This puzzle game is all about colors and hues. In this game, you need to color each tile of the puzzle with the correct hue following hints for lines or neighboring tiles. The task can be quite challenging, but nonetheless recompensating and fun. The clues give small details about how many tiles exist and in what formation they are. Step by step the board will be completed and new clues discovered, enabling to progress in the puzzle to finally solve it. Simple and addictive gameplay, perfect for a puzzling experience. This game offers: - Hundreds of puzzles. - No guesses, complete any puzzle – even the hardest ones – using only logic. - Color blind mode. - Each puzzle individually crafted to guarantee the best placements of clues and colors to maximize the enjoyment. - Offers plenty of keyboard commands to improve and facilitate the gameplay. Based on the "Y" mode from "Puzzles By Axis", but all puzzles are new and with more features, types of clues and interface. For all questions, comments or bug report you can contact me through the Facebook page. You can play this puzzle game in a very simple way: just following the simple instructions and color each tile of the puzzle with the correct hue following hints for lines or neighboring tiles. This is only a hint, and it's up to you to use your thinking. The task can be quite challenging, but nonetheless recompensating and fun. [Y] - Yellows and turquoise are their only complementary colors [P] - Blues and purples are their only complementary colors [G] - Greens and greys are their only complementary colors [B] - Burglaries and black are their only complementary colors [C] - Concealed are their only complementary colors [S] - Stripes and space are their only complementary colors [Z] - Zeros and pinks are their only complementary colors The clue's color is usually the same of the tile to be colored, but it's not mandatory. Some clues are even a little bit different to avoid color conflict and give you more information about the puzzle. For this puzzle game you also have an interface view, which helps you to place the tiles correctly and you have small hints about the solutions of each puzzle and the help you need for solving them. ★★★★★ this is a great game 9/26/2013 Rating Verified Purchase very good game 9/9/2013 Rating Verified Purchase Thank you for the very positive review! active XD Required Reading The Axis Hyperactive XD Painters Forum I remember getting a huge problem with the ratchet using the trigger as my pivot point. It would go back and forth for the life of the weapon and any round that didnt hit at the butt of the trigger would go back and forth aswell. The manufacturer actually stated that it did not meet their specs so it was still under warranty. I had to change the hyperdrive to my trigger to fix it without any internal issues. Other than that, nothing I would look into. Thanks, CARL WITH A CARL Thanks Barryclaw I'm certain the hyperdrive will need to be replaced at some point. The problem will not be internal to your trigger, but on a piece in the foregrip. The problem seems to not happen if you have the stock trigger unit installed. I'm not sure what exactly needs to be replaced. billycrawford I dont think it can be the hyperdrive, we have 3 XD's 1 equipped with the adjustable trigger and hyperdrive and 2 without. All three had this problem. Weapon Fire Offtopic As Determined By Accuracy? Is It the End Of The World? is the most recent topic in the xd forums.
