Q: Using NSTimer with an NSOperation I'm using the following code to create an NSOperation that continuously checks for updates to a server. The code just runs a simple NSTimer periodically that checks for internet connectivity. When the connection is lost, the code changes the color of a label to indicate connectivity has been lost. - (void) run; { // Place the operation on the main thread [NSThread detachNewThreadSelector:@selector(run) toTarget:self withObject:nil]; // The next lines is just to change the background color of a label when connectivity is lost NSLog(@"in run"); // create a new instance of the server connection operation [[[ServerConnectionOperation alloc] init] start]; } // NSOperation subclass @implementation ServerConnectionOperation -(id)init { if(self = [super init]) { // set the interval at which we'll change the color of the label self.repeats = 1.0; [NSTimer scheduledTimerWithTimeInterval:0.5 target:self selector:@selector(checkInterfaceIsOffline:) userInfo:nil repeats:NO]; } return self; } -(void) dealloc { [super dealloc]; } -(void) checkInterfaceIsOffline:(NSTimer *)timer { [ServerConnectionOperation checkInterfaceIsOffline:self.isOffline]; } -(void) checkInterfaceIsOffline:(BOOL)isOffline { if(isOffline) { [self changeLabelColor:self.isOffline.text]; } else { [self changeLabelColor:@"Online"]; } NSLog

Paragraph 26 also states that in an “emergency situation,” Michigan State Police may enter a non-subject’s residence or place of business without a warrant to render aid and examine the premises. Though both paragraph 26 and paragraph 27 of section 7604 specifically state that entry is “not authorized” unless certain circumstances exist, paragraph 26 of section 7605 permits the Michigan State Police to “enter a dwelling or place of business” upon the direction of the head of the agency authorizing such entry. Paragraphs 26 and 27 of section 7605 authorize the Michigan State Police to enter, upon the direction of the head of the agency authorizing such entry, a dwelling or place of business when the head of the agency determines that it is necessary because of “an emergency situation.” M.C.L. § 7605(26), (27). Paragraphs 26 and 27 of section 7605 are qualified by subsections (1), (2), and (3), which limit the authority of the police to enter premises to the following situations: (1) Any person may be present at a dwelling or place of business who appears to be in distress but is not refusing entry to the police. -9- No. 07-2083 Whitaker v. City of Saginaw (2) A police officer has reasonable grounds to believe that there is an emergency situation involving an immediate threat of death or serious injury to any person. The police officer may enter a dwelling or place of business with the permission of the occupant, if available, when the officer has been informed of and believes the necessity for immediate action. The officer may require the occupant to remain and reasonably secure the premises or to supply whatever information is necessary to determine the nature and extent of the
