Extra resources for Age Of Empires III: Game of the Year Edition On September 26, Games for Windows Live was shut down by Microsoft. Users were given the choice of keeping Windows Live or moving to the Windows 10 service. Microsoft is now looking for alternative platforms for GFWL games. This article provides information about the status and future plans for GFWL. 8.2% of the user base has been downloaded across all GFWL games. Combined with the percentage of Windows 10 users, this gives a total game population of 4,178,020. Microsoft is willing to provide support and updates for games using the GFWL client for the foreseeable future. The games team is most concerned with meeting the needs of the GFWL community, as well as meeting the needs of the Windows 10 user base. This article outlines the status and future plans for GFWL. 8.2% of the user base has been downloaded across all GFWL games. Combined with the percentage of Windows 10 users, this gives a total game population of 4,178,020. 0% of the user base is installed on Windows 8. 0% of the user base is installed on Windows 7. 0% of the user base is installed on Windows XP. Windows 10 is the only operating system on which 5% of the user base is installed. Windows 10 also accounts for 33% of all Windows OS users. Windows 8 OS usage has fallen to just 13%. The following chart outlines the number of users by OS and GFWL version. As of December 2016, the average user base is about 4,200,000. However, GFWL is not able to support all versions of Windows. Free GFWL games are Windows 7 compatible and limited. Stationary Waveguides that are tunable by using mechanical strain or electrical bias have been proposed in the past, and tuning of their resonance wavelength and band gap to visible wavelengths is already realized with either biasing of the semiconductor layer or tuning of the lattice constant of the channel. These band gap and resonance wavelength tunable waveguides are also important for many applications, such as on-chip optical interconnections, sensing, imaging, and data transfer in optical integrated circuits. What is needed is a method for making tunable wave
