We have worked really hard on this one. One of our core-values as a company is to listen to the community. We do this not just by playing the game ourselves, but also by discussing the game with you guys. We read the feedback, watch the streams and stay up to date on forum discussion. Last year at GDC we shared the data from the PC survey. 60% of you guys said that you prefer Survival Mode over the Arcade Mode. What this means, is that the game was balanced to be great in that mode. And in the end, that's what we did. We think that you'll agree, that the game is better balanced. Our focus was on delivering the best gameplay in the Survival mode. That's why it has received a double weapon rebalance as well as new weapon loot and a new treasure hunt. What's new in Higurashi When They Cry Hou - Ch.1 Onikakushi:

Muffins I worked today out in the yard. I bought a bunch of grass seeds last night, made three huge hay mattress nests in the back of the wheelbarrow, and weeded plants and mulched almost an entire garden plot. (On cold summer nights I like to work from about 7:00 p.m. until 2:30 a.m. In the spring, my garden plot looks like a big happy dust bunny, but in the summer the weeds grow like crazy and the grass grows tall. The babies were born 2 1/2 weeks ago. Yes, I know, I'm way late!) After I got done with all that, I took an hour and baked these muffins. I always try to make a stash of muffins in the freezer for emergencies, and I usually never make the same thing twice, so the kids will eat a different kind of muffin every day for a month. All the kids (yes, even the kids - it's true, kids are simple like that) know what kind of muffins Daddy will be making this week. The first day, it's orange. The second day, it's blueberry. The third day, it's apple spice. The fourth day, it's cantaloupe. The fifth day, it's lemon. The sixth day, it's lemon-blueberry. And this is the seventh day - blueberry muffins! (See? They even know what days have muffins.) I made these muffins this morning and froze them away for my own use and for the kids to enjoy. I swear - waking up to these muffins every morning is the best way to start my day. I'm still missing my muffins and munchies from the week, still missing a few uninterrupted hours of sleep, but knowing that the refrigerator is stocked with breakfast muffins for the next several days just makes me feel so, so..... HAPPY!!!! Preheat oven to 375 degrees F. Line a 12-cup muffin tin with 12 cups of muffin papers. In a large bowl, whisk together the wet ingredients: water, oil, sugar, and vanilla. Make sure the oil is fully mixed in with the water before adding the sugar. Make a well in the middle of the bowl, and add the dry ingredients: flour, salt, baking powder, and baking soda. Using a large spoon, gently mix the
